INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

To the Board of Directors Compass Science Communication, Inc. Portland, Oregon

Opinion

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of Compass Science Communication, Inc. (a nonprofit organization), which comprise the statement of financial position as of December 31, 2022, and the related statements of activities, functional expenses, and cash flows for the year then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Compass Science Communication, Inc. as of December 31, 2022, and the changes in net assets and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are required to be independent of Compass Science Communication, Inc. and to meet our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with the relevant ethical requirements relating to our audit. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Responsibilities of Management for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, and for the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is required to evaluate whether there are conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, that raise substantial doubt about Compass Science Communication, Inc.'s ability to continue as a going concern within one year after the date that the financial statements are available to be issued.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not absolute assurance and therefore is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control. Misstatements, including omissions, are considered material if there is a substantial likelihood that, individually or in the aggregate, they would influence the judgment made by a reasonable user based on the financial statements.

To the Board of Directors Compass Science Communication, Inc.

In performing an audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, we:

- Exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit.
- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, and design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks. Such procedures include examining, on a test basis, evidence regarding the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of Compass Science Communication, Inc.'s internal control. Accordingly, no such opinion is expressed.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluate the overall presentation of the financial statements.
- Conclude whether, in our judgment, there are conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, that raise substantial doubt about Compass Science Communication, Inc.'s ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time.

We are required to communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit, significant audit findings, and certain internal control related matters that we identified during the audit.

Report on Summarized Comparative Information

We have previously audited Compass Science Communication, Inc.'s 2021 financial statements, and we expressed an unmodified opinion on those audited financial statements in our report dated June 6, 2022. In our opinion, the summarized comparative information presented herein as of and for the year ended December 31, 2021, is consistent, in all material respects, with the audited financial statements from which it has been derived.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

December 31, 2022

NOTE A – DESCRIPTION OF ORGANIZATION

Compass Science Communication, Inc. (COMPASS, or the Organization) envisions a world where science helps people and nature thrive together.

COMPASS achieves this vision by preparing scientists to become agents of change. We invest in science leaders that reflect the diversity of society as a whole, creating inclusive, safe, and empowering spaces for learning and transformation. With strategic skills, connections, and support, scientists can advance just, equitable solutions to climate change and biodiversity loss.

Since 1999, COMPASS has supported over 8,000 scientists to communicate about their work and engage beyond lab and field. We've connected them with journalists, policymakers, and community leaders across the United States, when and where it matters, ensuring science has a seat at the table.

Our community is our strength. We work within and across a consciously-woven network spanning disciplines, ideologies, sectors, and fields. From our unique vantage point, we spot and open doors that lead to new partnerships and solutions, bringing scientists and communities together to co-create the future.

During the year ending on December 31, 2022, the Organization incurred program service expenses in the following major areas:

• Strategic Engagement

We support and collaborate with scientists in generating, evaluating, and elevating equitable solutions to climate change and biodiversity loss. To spark collaborative action, we equip scientists with strategic and inclusive mindsets, support scientists and stakeholders to collaborate more effectively, and inspire a shared belief that together, we can co-create the conditions for people and nature to thrive. We leverage our consciously-woven network of relationships to engage a diversity of stakeholders and ensure our shared understanding is driven by science, informed by affected communities, and reflects the diversity of perspectives—not just the views derived from those with historical power and privilege.

Scientist Network

The COMPASS network has been hand-built and strengthened for over 20 years. We develop and deepen relationships across and between scientist leaders who are committed to the well-being of people and nature. We aim to provide all COMPASS alumni with an opportunity to join a supportive community, collaborate around a shared purpose, and access ongoing learning opportunities to further their engagement. The Scientist Network will serve as a platform for connection, a solutions incubator, and a model for a more diverse, equitable, inclusive, and mutually supportive science culture.

• Capacity Building

Grounded in the latest research on science communication, our in-depth, highly interactive, and customized group trainings and individual coaching enable scientists to find the relevance of their science for the audiences they most want to reach—journalists, policymakers, communities, leaders within their institution, and other scientists. We help scientists set, refine, and ultimately achieve their goals for effectively engaging with society. As pioneers and leaders in the practice of science communication, we bring our experience, insight, and social capital to supporting more scientists to take actions to advance solutions through meaningful public engagement.

• Visibility & Outreach

We seek to expand the portion of the science community who see themselves as agents of change and COMPASS as a leader and ongoing resource in science communication, engagement, and policy. We strategically engage with a diverse array of science leaders that reflect society as a whole, deepening existing relationships and making targeted efforts to build new ones that further our mission. By sharing and amplifying key perspectives from community leaders, policymakers, and diverse science leaders, we aim to shift the narrative on climate change and biodiversity loss toward solutions and collective action.

NOTE B – SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Basis of Accounting

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared on the accrual basis of accounting in accordance with the accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Financial Statement Presentation

The Organization reports information regarding its financial position and activities according to two classes of net assets: without donor restrictions and with donor restrictions. Accordingly, the net assets of the Organization and changes therein are classified and reported as follows:

- Net Assets Without Donor Restrictions Net assets that are not subject to donor-imposed stipulations. The Board of Directors may designate net assets without donor restrictions for specific purposes.
- Net Assets With Donor Restrictions Net assets either subject to donor-imposed stipulations that will be met either by actions of the Organization and/or the passage of time, or net assets with donor restrictions that are not subject to appropriation or expenditure.

Expenses are reported as a decrease in net assets without donor restrictions. Gains and losses are reported as increases or decreases in net assets without donor restrictions unless their use is restricted by explicit donor stipulation or by law. Expiration of net assets with donor restrictions (i.e., the donor-stipulated purpose has been fulfilled and/or the stipulated time period has elapsed) are reported as net assets released from restrictions.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Organization considers all highly liquid investments with an initial maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

Contribution Revenue and Grants Receivables

Contributions are recognized when the donor makes a promise to give to the Organization that is, in substance, unconditional. Contributions with donor restrictions are reported as increases in net assets with donor restrictions depending on the nature of the restrictions. Otherwise, when a restriction expires, net assets with donor restrictions are reclassified to net assets without donor restrictions.

Conditional promises to give – that is, those with a measurable performance or other barrier and a right of return – are not recognized until the conditions on which they depend have been met. Contributions received with both donor-imposed conditions and restrictions that are met in the same reporting period are reported as support without donor restrictions and increase net assets without donor restrictions.

Grants receivable, which are unconditional promises to give, are expected to be collected within one year.

Revenue Recognition

Revenue streams that are accounted for as an exchange transaction include event fees and program fees.

With regard to revenues from all sources, the Organization evaluates whether each transfer of assets is (1) an exchange reciprocal transaction in which a resource provider receives commensurate value in return for the assets transferred, or (2) a nonreciprocal transfer (a contribution or a grant), where no value is exchanged.

- Exchange Transactions If the transfer of assets is determined to be an exchange transaction, the Organization recognizes revenue (1) when or as it satisfies the required performance obligations and transfers the promised good or service to a customer, and (2) when the customer obtains control of that good or service.
- Contributions and Grants If the transfer of assets is determined to be a contribution, the Organization evaluates whether the contribution is conditional based upon whether the agreement includes both (1) a barrier that must be overcome to be entitled to the funds and (2) either a right of return of assets transferred or a release of a promisor's obligation to transfer assets.

Functional Allocation of Expenses

The costs of providing the programs and supporting services have been summarized in the statement of activities. Directly identifiable expenses are charged to programs and supporting services when incurred. Certain costs, including office expense, occupancy, leases and utilities have been allocated among the programs and supporting services benefited based primarily on estimates of time and effort.
